

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A frictional forced power transmission belt transmits power to a pulley with its belt body wound around and in contact with the pulley. At least a contact part of the belt
5 body with a pulley is formed of a rubber composition in which powdery or granular polyolefin resin is contained in ethylene- α -olefin elastomer.